OVERVIEW & TALKING POINTS: MIGRATION

BACKGROUND

With more than 68 million people forcibly displaced around the world, 22 million of whom are refugees, and 30 million people suffering severe food insecurity across Africa and part of the Middle East, the international community is facing challenges unseen since World War II. From Central America to Myanmar, conflict, natural disaster, and poverty are forcing people to flee and seek safety and opportunity elsewhere. Pope Francis recently reminded us that, “Every stranger who knocks at the door is an opportunity for an encounter with Jesus Christ, who identifies with the welcomed and rejected strangers of every age.” Privileged to serve more than 127 million people in 114 countries in 2018, CRS can attest first-hand to the significant challenges poor and vulnerable communities encounter and to the impact of poverty-reducing foreign assistance. To end poverty, hunger, and disease CRS provides shelter to refugees, helps farmers to grow better crops in the face of climate change or drought, promotes peace in communities divided by differences, and provides immediate response in emergencies. CRS is proud to partner with the U.S. government to bring hope and safety to communities – from refugees fleeing Syria to youth seeking opportunity in El Salvador.

In Central America, which has some of the highest rates of violence outside of war zones, CRS works on community development and youth empowerment, allowing youth and families to thrive in their communities and not feel compelled to flee north. In Bidibidi Refugee Settlement in Uganda, where almost 300,000 South Sudanese refugees reside, CRS focuses on livelihoods, WASH, shelter, and infrastructure construction for people with special needs. With no end in sight to the ongoing conflict in South Sudan, the humanitarian efforts are critical to meet the needs of the population. Furthermore, across the Middle East and Europe, CRS and her local partners have helped more than 1.4 million Syrians. In partnership with Caritas Jordan, CRS provides Syrian refugee children with access to safe, quality educational opportunities. These opportunities are important not only for the educational purposes, but also for the healing space they provide for children impacted by the conflict. Lastly, CRS and Caritas Iraq are helping displaced Iraqis return home and rebuild their lives. This includes the repair of war-damaged homes, livelihoods support, and access to quality education.

CURRENT STATE OF PLAY

Fiscal Year 2020 International Poverty-Reducing Humanitarian and Development Funding

On February 15, the President signed into law Fiscal Year 2019 appropriations to avoid another US government shutdown. Included in this package were spending bills that fund poverty-reducing international development and humanitarian aid for which CRS advocates on Capitol Hill. We are pleased to inform you that Congress again rejected the administration’s proposed cut to foreign assistance, and instead, provided a slight increase (less than 1%) to all poverty-reducing foreign aid. The accounts we prioritize, including life-giving global health, development, humanitarian, and food security accounts fared very well.

Nevertheless, on March 11, the administration released their Fiscal Year 2020 budget request, calling for a 24% cut to foreign assistance, including deep and disproportionate reductions to poverty-reducing humanitarian and development assistance. The House of Representatives has rejected the administration's proposal, passing bills that protect, and in some cases increase, poverty-reducing assistance to meet the great need in the world. We continue to work with Congressional partners, including the Senate as they develop their FY20 proposal, to ensure we maintain U.S. leadership and investments in poverty-focused humanitarian and development work.

Furthermore, on March 29, the administration announced plans to revoke all foreign assistance to the Northern Triangle of Central America, which is deeply concerning to CRS and our ongoing work in the region to help address the root causes of migration: violence, lack of economic opportunity, and food insecurity.

TALKING POINTS

- Thank you for your time to discuss international development and humanitarian aid.
 - The introduction is an opportunity to share a little about yourself, your work in the state/district, and your connection to CRS.
- As Catholics, we believe there is a moral obligation to provide assistance and address the root causes of poverty, conflict, and forced migration.
 - Share your personal story of why you support Catholic Relief Services' international humanitarian and development work, to illustrate your concern about this global issue.
- The U.S. government has the responsibility and capacity to address the needs of the poor to prevent conflict, promote opportunity, and keep all people safe. By helping communities with humanitarian assistance and development programs today, we can avoid catastrophes in the future. Pope Francis has said, "Our faith in Christ, who became poor, and was always close to the poor and the outcast, is the basis of our concern for the integral development of society's most neglected members."
- We are pleased that Congress protected international assistance in Fiscal Year 2018 and Fiscal Year 2019. Nevertheless, we are deeply concerned about the Administration's Fiscal Year 2020 budget request, which proposed a 24% cut to foreign aid. We urge Congress to protect international funding that supports poor and marginalized communities to at least Fiscal Year 2019 levels. CRS is proud to partner with the U.S. government to provide assistance overseas. U.S. leadership is critical in our collective effort to end poverty, hunger, and disease as well as address the root causes of migration.
 - Share a story about the importance and impact of these programs overseas. In Guatemala, for example, CRS' USAID-funded maternal and child health project (SEGAMIL) helped reduce chronic malnutrition in children (under age 5) five times more than the national average and decreased the number of people living on less than $1.25 per day by more than half.
 - Think of how you can tell your community's story about how they organize to support CRS because of their call as Catholics to support our human family most in need—this might be connected to CRS Rice Bowl or it could be about some other type of activity the community has participated in.
- We oppose the administration's plan to cancel all foreign assistance funds to the Northern Triangle of Central America. We are concerned that an absence of U.S. investment and engagement will not only impede development, but also create a vacuum where poverty, instability, and forced migration will grow. We urge Congress to ensure poverty-reducing programs continue and that the U.S. effectively and humanely addresses violence, lack of protection and economic opportunity, and food insecurity in the Northern Triangle countries of Guatemala, El Salvador and Honduras.

THE ASK

1. At a time of unprecedented humanitarian need, we urge Congress to protect poverty-reducing international development and humanitarian assistance in Fiscal Year 2020. [The accounts which do this are enumerated in CRS' appropriations chart.]
2. We urge Congress to communicate to the administration their opposition to redirecting and suspending foreign assistance funds to Central America and work to ensure poverty-reducing programs continue in the region.

QUESTIONS/COMMENTS TO RAISE

3. If the Senator/Representative travels abroad, please let us know if he/she would like to visit CRS programming. As you know, we are in 114 countries around the world and would welcome an opportunity to show the Senator/Representative the impact US dollars have on the ground.
4. Please see CRS and me as a resource both here in Washington, DC and back home in the state/district.
5. Express an interest in continuing to dialogue with the Senator/Representative, or his/her staff, on these and other issues of mutual interest.

Summary of Message to Congress and Account Descriptions

The Church views international assistance as an essential tool to promote human life and dignity, advance solidarity with developing nations, and enhance human security. The USCCB and CRS prioritize the accounts below because they are most focused on saving lives and reducing poverty. This assistance is just over one-half percent of the federal budget, not the 20-25% many Americans believe it constitutes. We urge Congress to fund international poverty-reducing development and humanitarian programs to meet urgent needs and invest in peace.

Maternal and Child Health programs provide low-cost, life-saving interventions such as micronutrient supplementation, nutritional support, newborn care, immunization, and treatment of pneumonia and diarrheal disease – addressing the biggest killers of mothers and children in the developing world. This account also provides funding for the U.S. contribution to GAVI, the Vaccine Alliance, which purchases vaccines for children in poor countries.

Nutrition programs provide interventions such as micronutrient supplementation and growth monitoring, which combined with an adequate diet and clean water and sanitation, improves outcomes during the first critical years of a child's life.

Vulnerable Children programs address the special needs of displaced children and orphans.

HIV and AIDS PEPFAR (USAID & State Funding) funding focuses on prevention, care and treatment, and the support of children affected and infected by HIV and AIDS. Although we have principled concerns about those PEPFAR prevention activities we find inconsistent with Catholic teaching and do not implement or advocate for these activities, we support PEPFAR's overall lifesaving mission and urge robust funding for the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, TB and Malaria.

Malaria programs treat, prevent, and control this deadly disease which is one of the biggest killers of children under five worldwide.

Tuberculosis programs screen, diagnose, and treat millions of people each year. TB is the leading infectious killer globally.

Neglected Tropical Diseases programs focus on scaling up integrated treatment to prevent parasitic and bacterial diseases that cause morbidity and mortality.

Global Health Security programs prevent, prepare for, and respond to unanticipated and emerging global health threats.

ⁱ Development Assistance programs support an array of critical development activities, including basic education; Global Food Security Act implementation; clean water and sanitation; microfinance, democracy promotion and good governance, and conflict management and mitigation. The Administration's FY20 request consolidates economic and development assistance into the Economic Support and Development Fund (ESDF) account, reducing overall funding by 23% from FY19 enacted.

ⁱⁱ International Disaster Assistance funds emergency health, water, shelter and nutrition efforts, as well as disaster risk reduction and rehabilitation through the Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance (OFDA). It also supports cash and voucher-based emergency food security programming via the Emergency Food Security Program (EFSP). The Administration's FY20 request consolidates IDA, part of MRA, and FFP into one account, reducing overall funding by 35% from FY19 enacted.

ⁱⁱⁱ Migration and Refugee Assistance protects refugees and internally displaced persons, helps them to repatriate when conflict ends or natural disaster responses permit, and supports resettlement to safe countries like the U.S. This level would fund the admission process for 75,000 refugees to the U.S. The Administration's FY20 request eliminates funding for humanitarian assistance and funds the Refugee Admissions Program and administrative expenses for the Bureau of Population, Refugees, and Migration.

Emergency Refugee and Migration Assistance is a drawdown account used, with Presidential authority, to respond to humanitarian crises. The administration has not utilized this funding. ERMA is currently capped at $100 million.

Complex Crisis Fund enables rapid investments to catalyze peace and mitigate conflict in the face of unforeseen crises or violence.

Millennium Challenge Account provides U.S. funding to countries with a commitment to good governance, focusing on infrastructure projects.

Atrocities Prevention Board (APB) improves collaboration, analysis and information sharing to mobilize U.S. efforts to prevent future atrocities and crises.

Contributions to International Peacekeeping Activities deploy peacekeeping troops to protect civilians in places like Sudan and Somalia. Based on UN assessed rates of contribution, the U.S. is currently in arrears estimated at more than $750 million.

Peacekeeping Operations finances the training and equipping of peacekeeping troops and the professionalization of militia groups committed to protecting their people.

Green Climate Fund provides assistance to developing countries to adapt to and mitigate the impacts of climate change. In lieu of Green Climate Fund, other multilateral and bilateral program to address climate change adaptation and mitigation should be considered.

U.S. Institute of Peace works to prevent, reduce, and resolve armed conflict around the world by providing analysis, education, and resources to those working for peace.

Combatting Trafficking in Persons US assistance helps other nations to prevent trafficking, prosecute perpetrators, and support victims.

^{iv} Title II Food for Peace provides U.S. food aid for emergencies and funds $350 million in long-term development programs that support nutrition and build resilience. The Administration's FY20 request consolidates IDA, part of MRA, and FFP into one account, reducing overall funding by 35% from FY19 enacted.

McGovern-Dole provides school lunches and take-home food rations to encourage students, especially girls, to attend school, and other school support efforts. At least $15 million should provide for local and regionally procured commodities for sustainability.

Bureau of International Labor Affairs funds programs to combat the worst forms of child labor, forced labor, and trafficking in persons.
